Election/Restrictions

1. Claims 6,7,9,10 and 14 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected invention, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Election was made without traverse in the reply filed on 9-28-07.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

3. Claims 1-5,11-13,15,16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention.

In claims 1 and 11 the limitation "the [ZrO₂] additive has an average particle size of at most 100 nm" fails to have support in the instant disclosure. Claims 1 and 11 claim the sintered alumina body while the disclosure sets forth the starting material used to produce the sintered body includes an additive having a particle size of at most 100nm. Furthermore, claim 11 the disclosure fails to provide support for any additive having the claimed crystal size. Only support for zirconia having this particle size can be found.

Art Unit: 1793

Claim 11 also sets forth the density being 99.95% however the specification requires zirconia to be present to reach this density. Claims 11-13,15,16 do not require zirconia.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

5. Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Yamamoto et al (6,417,127), for reasons of record.

6. Claims 11-13,15,16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a or e) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Yamamoto et al (6,417,127).

Claims 11-13,15,16 fail to require zirconia. See examples 8,9,19, which fall squarely within the claimed range of the additive.

As to the properties of claims 15 and 16, it is well settled that when a claimed composition appears to be substantially the same as a composition disclosed in the prior art, the burden is properly upon the applicant to prove by way of tangible evidence that the prior art composition does not necessarily possess characteristics attributed to the CLAIMED composition. In re Spada, 911 F.2d 705, 15 USPQ2d 1655 (Fed. Circ. 1990); In re Fitzgerald, 619 F.2d 67, 205 USPQ 594 (CCPA 1980); In re Swinehart, 439 F.2d 2109, 169 USPQ 226 (CCPA 1971).

7. Claims 11-13,15,16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Japanese document 6-211569.

The Japanese document teaches a transparent alumina body including .05-.5 wt% MgO and having a density as high as 3.99 g/cm³ and a grain size less than 1 micron, see abstract.

Art Unit: 1793

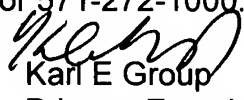

As to the properties of claims 15 and 16, it is well settled that when a claimed composition appears to be substantially the same as a composition disclosed in the prior art, the burden is properly upon the applicant to prove by way of tangible evidence that the prior art composition does not necessarily possess characteristics attributed to the CLAIMED composition. In re Spada, 911 F.2d 705, 15 USPQ2d 1655 (Fed. Circ. 1990); In re Fitzgerald, 619 F.2d 67, 205 USPQ 594 (CCPA 1980); In re Swinehart, 439 F.2d 2109, 169 USPQ 226 (CCPA 1971).

Applicants argue that the prior art fails to teach zirconia having a particle size of 100nm. This is not persuasive because the particle size of the zirconia is to the starting material not the claimed product. Starting materials are not considered to patentably distinguish the claimed product.
